Miller Rally at Blevins Attracts Big Crowd Friday

O. A. Graves Delivers the Principal Address at Blevins School

BAILEY DENOUNCED

Another Rally Will Be Held at McCaskill Saturday Night

A Miller-for-Senator rally was held at Blevins, in north Hempstead county, Friday night. The meeting was held in the Blevins high school building, and was attended by a large crowd. Martin Nelson acted as chairman of the meeting.

O. A. Graves, Hope attorney, who served with John E. Miller in the State Constitutional convention, as a member from Hempstead county, was the principal speaker. Among others who appeared on the speaking program were John P. Vesey, representative from Hempstead county; Steve Carrigan, of Hope, and Bert Larey, of Texarkana.

All the speakers condemned the attempted usurpation of the State Democratic committee in the selection of Carl E. Bailey as the nominee, and in trying to defeat the will of the people in choosing a candidate for United States Senator to succeed the late J. T. Robinson. They appealed to citizens to exercise their inalienable rights as free men and women in repudiating once and for all autocracy and bigotry in Arkansas.

A man, it was charged, who had violated every promise made to the people, and who has refused to take the people into his confidence, is not a worthy successor to the late lamented Senator Robinson.

A meeting will be held at McCaskill Saturday night at which O. A. Graves, John P. Vesey, Steve Carrigan and James E. Barden will be among the principal speakers.

Bayley Delivers Speech

MONTICELLO, Ark.—(P)—Governor Carl E. Bailey charged in a campaign address Friday night that he was approached late Friday by a representative of the "slot machine racket" who promised to make a sizeable contribution to his campaign fund if he would have the state police "lay off" slot machines.

"Otherwise," he said, "they told me I would lose two certain counties in which these racketeers formerly operated. These one-armed bandits. I sent them word back that I would have nothing to do with them and under no conditions would I change my orders to the state police."

"Two men who wear the judicial ofms are mixed up in this racket and if they are not careful, the ermine is going to get badly soiled."

Bayley urged federal action to assure good roads and flood protection Friday night in another major address in his campaign for the United States senate. He was introduced to a courthouse crowd by Mayor V. B. McCloy.

"Removal of the present restrictions on state participating in federal funds for construction of highways will be one of my first items of business if sent to Washington as your senator," he said.

"Good morning," he said. "My name is Norval. I am a dealer in rugs. Have you any worn rugs that you might care to exchange for new ones?"

"All my rugs are worn," replied Mrs. Gaston, humorously, "some more than others. But I don't see how you can afford to exchange new ones for them."

"I can quickly tell you. If you will let me see them," said the man.

Mrs. Gaston had been wondering whether to have the old rugs cleaned or to discard them and buy new ones. However, they seemed too good to discard, and she had made up her mind to make them do for another winter. But she saw no reason why she should not at least see what sort of bargain the stranger had to offer.

"I'll show them to you," she said. "But you surely don't mean you really give new rugs for old?"

"Yes, we do," Norval assured her. "We place a value on your old rugs and apply a small amount on the price of the new ones."

"Oh, I see. But in that case you wouldn't allow me much for the old one—this one, for instance . . ." She indicated a 9x12 rug that had cost no more than $25 several years before.

Norval inspected the rug closely. "I couldn't allow you more than $18 for that one," he said.

"You'll really allow me that much?" Mrs. Gaston asked.

"Yes. That would seem about the right price. You see, I want to do the right thing by everybody. You have other rugs, I suppose?"

"Yes, I have several more. They are all on the back porch. You see, I'm house-cleaning."

Norval spread out the rugs on the porch floor. After making notes of the size and condition of each, he made an appraisal of another 9x12 at $18. There were two smaller ones, one of which he appraised at $12 and the other at $7.

Mrs. Gaston was agreeably surprised. The prices were far in excess of what she had expected. "Let's see," she said. "That would make a total of $55 for the four rugs. Is that correct?"

"Yes," said Norval. "That's right. Now let me show you some of our new rug patterns. They are all here in this book."

He opened the book at some very beautiful illustrations, with descriptions and sizes carefully shown. One 9x12 in particular took Mrs. Gaston's fancy.

"That's a beautiful rug," she said. "But I'm sure it would be much too high-priced for me."

Norval smiled. "That's the way everybody talks until they hear our prices. That rug, just as you see it, we sell for only $30. With an allowance of $18 for yours of the same size, that leaves a balance of only $12."

Mrs. Gaston immediately decided to exchange all of her rugs, each for a new one of its own size. After deducting her credits, she found that by paying $30 she could effect an exchange and have all her new rugs.

"I suppose I pay the $30 when the rugs arrive?" she asked.

"No," said Norval. "In order to offer the quality of merchandise we sell at such prices, we are required to pay cash with each of our orders. So we are obliged to ask our customers to advance one-half the amount in cash to us, and the balance upon delivery of the rugs."

That sounded reasonable to Mrs. Gaston, and she paid $15. Norval took her rugs and promised the new ones in ten days.

When three weeks had passed and neither rugs nor word received, Mrs. Gaston wrote to Norval at the address on his card. But her letter was returned, marked "unknown." She then went to the police department and related the circumstances.

"Mrs. Gaston," said the officer in charge, "you are the tenth woman who has been here this week with a complaint against this fellow. We've tried to locate him, but so far we've had no luck. He took several hundred dollars and a load of rugs out of this town, and that's probably the last we'll ever hear of him."

Although Lowell Martindale's field goal in the second quarter gave the Van Sickle Swingers a 3-to-0 majority at the half, it was a nip and tuck contest for the first three periods. Then came the fourth and Little Rock's deadly passing combination—Melvin White to Howard Hughes—went into action. A few minutes later a mixed running and passing attack accounted for the Tigers' second touchdown.

While Coach Sam Coleman's Panthers bowed to a superior team, Camden supporters should be proud of their snappy grid representation. Coleman has two coking big backs in Fletcher and Kiziza and Leonard Stern and he showed a hard-fighting line.

The Panthers were dangerous in the beginning. Although they failed to reach pay dirt, they got as far as the Little Rock 14-yard line in the fourth quarter.

The fact that 27 first downs were made, 15 by Little Rock and 12 by Camden, indicates the offensive play. The Tigers gained 191 yards from scrimmage to 118 for the Panthers. Little Rock had the best of the air attack, featured by the White-to-Hughes shot that netted 66 yards and a touchdown. Camden's air game failed to click during the first three periods. Kiziza connected with several short pitches in the last stanza and then ran into trouble.

JONESBORO, Ark.—A second and third quarter passing attack netted two touchdowns and a 14-to-7 victory for the Little Rock Catholic High Rockets over the Jonesboro High Golden Hurricane here Friday night.

Beatty's Death Remains Mystery

Coroner's Jury Returns Verdict in Death of Emmet Farmer

A Hempstead coroner's jury Saturday morning returned a verdict which said that Ed Beatty, 68, Emmet farmer, came to his death from an unknown cause.

The verdict was returned at 11:20 a. m. after more than two hours deliberation. The verdict read:

"We the jury, after due deliberation, find that Edward Leonard Beatty came to his death from an unknown cause."

Coroner J. H. Weaver announced the jury list as: Elbert Tarpley, secretary, E. S. Jones, foreman, Hugh Garner, John Laha, Joe Rider, W. Y. Bobo, J. C. Burke, Jr., J. C. Cook and Lewis S. Townsend. The balance of the jury, Wallace Cook, Will Palmer and Will Thompson, were absent.

The body of Beatty was found last Sunday afternoon in a shallow creek two and a half miles from Emmet. The body bore bruises and cuts about the face and head.

Ten persons testified at the inquest held here Tuesday afternoon, the verdict being delayed until Saturday morning.

Little Rock Takes Panthers, 16 to 0, While Catholic High of Little Rock Defeats Heavy Jonesboro Team, 14 to 7

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—Little Rock's Tigers proved themselves an Arkansas high school football power by defeating a No. 1 challenger, the strong Camden Panthers, 16 to 0, at the Little Rock stadium Friday night. A crowd estimated at 7,000 including a large delegation from south Arkansas, witnessed the interesting and hard fought game.

Although Lowell Martindale's field goal in the second quarter gave the Van Sickle Swingers a 3-to-0 majority at the half, it was a nip and tuck contest for the first three periods. Then came the fourth and Little Rock's deadly passing combination—Melvin White to Howard Hughes—went into action. JONESBORO, Ark.—A second and third quarter passing attack netted two touchdowns and a 14-to-7 victory for the Little Rock Catholic High Rockets over the Jonesboro High Golden Hurricane here Friday night.

Barham scored both Rocket touchdowns after receiving laterals from Big Jack Rust, pass catching fullback. The halfback raced 68 yards for the first marker and stepped 11 yards for the second. Both extra points were added on passes from Davis to Rust.

Milton Pharis, halfback, plunged nine yards through the Rocket line for Jonesboro's only score in the early minutes of the contest. Tilly added

TOP—Another nickel world series and are New York baseball fans delighted! Look at how they jam Yankee Stadium for the first game with the Giants. Despite the uncertain weather, approximately 60,000 persons were estimated to be in the stands when the teams took the field to watch the Yankees triumph, 8 to 1.

MIDDLE—Every World-series game has its big IF scene. Here it is in the first game. Vernon Gomez, Yankee's star left hander, is safe sliding back to second when Mameau attempts to catch him napping. If Bartlett hadn't dropped the ball, Gomez probably would have been tipped in the bud. A few moments later, Gomez scored on Di Maggio's single and the Giant's doom was sealed.

BOTTOM—If you have any idea how a pitcher feels after being knocked from the box in a World-series game, you'll have no trouble identifying Carl Hubbell, Giant ace, at right, this scene. Volgonev in posture, he slouches toward the dugout while Harry Gantbert, his successor on the mound in the first series game, warms up.

"Rebel School" Answer to Hazards of Traffic

ROMFORD, Essex, England—Defiant because educational authorities have made it necessary for pupils to walk two miles through dangerous motor traffic to reach school, parents of 212 children have set up a "rebel school" here.

When the old school became overcrowded, authorities built a new one two miles away. Though the new school is very modern, parents became incensed over the dangers they felt the two-mile walk exposed their children to.

The rebel school is held in a corner of a public playground without chairs, desks or blackboards. Pupils squat on the ground and the teacher walks between the lines, shouting questions at them and hearing their recitations.

4,000 Persons See Boy Scout Circus

Acts Move With Speed—Heavy Applause From Grandstand

TEXARKANA, Ark.—A crowd conservatively estimated at 4000 persons overflowed the grandstands at Buhrman Field Friday night at the second annual Boy Scout circus and had to be placed on special bleacher seats originally erected to seat Scouts and the bands.

Despite that invasion, the bleachers did not afford the crowd sufficient room, and long lines of spectators formed along the sides of the huge arena and watched the show frob beginning to end, pronouncing it the best yet.

From start to finish, the acts moved with speed and smoothness, and with H. W. Stillwell acting as narrator and commentator, every move made by the scouts, much of which was in pantomime, was of significance to the spectators.

The grand entry was impressive as usual, the crowd rumbling to its feet as the massed colors entered to the soft strains of "America," played by the Texarkana College band, led by W. J. Hurst, director.

The pageant "Pages From the History of the Four States Area" was well presented and each of the four acts brought heavy applause from the grandstand.

Horseshooting acts were good, with the scouts showing unusual management of their animals, putting them through many acts seen only in the big-time "big tops." A feature was a horse jumping through a circle of fire.

Ropes and whips, which came next, drew a big hand from the stands. The scouts displayed unusual ability with the whips, cutting paper into shreds while held by another scout in his mouth.

New Intervention in Spanish War Is Believed Nearing

Accused of Campaign to Support Spanish Insurgent Cause

REFUSE CONFERENCE

New Movement Would Include Gas Attacks on Spanish Cities

By the Associated Press
Japan's accusation of China as the responsible party in the far eastern conflict, charging plans to kill 30,000 Japanese in China, was studied Saturday by world powers.

China, in accepting the League of Nations invitation to participate in the nine-power treaty conference aimed to end the war in the orient, called upon the League to convene the conference as quickly as possible because the war is proving more and more disastrous.

Following the course personally charted by President Roosevelt, Secretary Hull in Washington, shaped a policy for American delegates to the parity, but gave no indication of this policy.

On the far eastern front, opposing armies awaited the dawning of the 26th anniversary of the constitutional Chinese government with a new decisive engagement indicated.

Italy Plans Attack

LONDON, Eng.—(P)—The Spanish government Saturday accused Italy of planning an unprecedented campaign to support the Spanish insurgent cause.

At the same time Italy's answer to the Anglo-French invitation to confer on the withdrawal of foreign volunteers from the Spanish civil war was delivered to French and British envoys in Rome.

Parisian sources unofficially reported that Italy ruled out the possibility of the meeting unless Germany was invited.

It was claimed that Italy's new intervention in the Spanish war would include "gas attacks on Spanish cities."

Kitchens' Statement
EL DORADO, Ark.—(P)—Congressman Wade Kitchens of Magnolia said Friday he favored the United States remaining neutral in the Sino-Japanese conflict.

He said he still remembered the American loss of life in the World war and the vast amount of capital that went out in foreign loans which have not been repaid.

"I am opposed to meddling in foreign wars or the affairs of other nations," Kitchens said.

"I am opposed to any idea that the United States is a guardian of peace in the world or that its sons are to be used and slaughtered in a futile attempt to keep the peace among other nations."

"The league of nations tried sanctions on Italy in her conquest of Ethiopia and the effort was a failure. If the league tries sanctions on Japan it will likewise mean a failure unless the U. S. is ready to engage in war and join in these sanctions."

Jap Side Given
SHANGHAI.—(P)—General Matsui, Japanese commander-in-chief at Shanghai, told the Chinese public in a statement Saturday that "the sole aim of Japan's armed expedition in China is to eradicate any cost China's anti-Japanese policy."

The commander's statement followed his proclamation Friday of Japanese invasion. Chinese considered the proclamation, in which Matsui said that the Japanese army "is now prepared to use every means to subdue its opponents," as the equivalent of a diplomatically formal declaration of war.

The new statement said that Japan bears no enmity toward the Chinese people and Japan is "willing and happy to receive those Chinese who have a genuine desire for further peace in the Orient."

Matsui said Japan is "determined to push directly but firmly toward the proclaimed end of forcing the bellicose (Chinese) government and its anti-Japanese army to alter its attitude."

Surgery, Radium, X-Ray Main Factors in Recognized Treatment of Cancers

This is the 19th of a series of articles in which Dr. Morris Fishbein discusses cancer, its causes, and measures for its prevention or cure.

(No. 340)

The main factors in the treatment of cancer today are surgery, radium, and the X-ray. The X-ray has been tremendously improved in the last 20 years and much more has been learned about radium.

Long ago it was found that the tissues which make up a cancer are more sensitive to radium and the X-ray than are normal tissues.

A surgeon may remove a cancer by use of a knife or the electric cautery, or by similar methods. When he removes the cancer, he tries also to remove all of the tissue near the cancer which may have been invaded and all of the swollen glands related in any way to the growth.

The radiologist is particularly concerned with cancer of the skin and cancer of the cervix and uterus, and these methods are used also in certain tumors of the mouth, throat and lungs.

Radium has really been found to be of rather limited value in cancer of the stomach, liver, gallbladder, pancreas, kidney and intestines.

The dangerous methods of treatment include ointments, plasters of massage. Ointments containing caustic drugs may damage the neighboring tissues and make them more susceptible to cancer. Massage or any rough manipulation may help to spread tumor throughout the body. Diet, drugs, glands, serums, colored lights and similar methods also have been used without any real success.

It has been rather well established that neither worry nor cheerfulness can control the cause or disappearance of a cancer in any way. It is not possible to cause a cancer to disappear by adopting a cheerful attitude toward it.

Chief danger of attempting to treat a serious condition by mental methods is the possibility of overlooking any possible chance that exists for treatment with well established scientific methods.

NEXT: Danger of cancer treatments by quacks.

Eskimo Can't Dance With His Girl Friend

BARROW, Alaska.—(AP)—The opposite sexes do not dance together in native Eskimo dances. Another custom is that only relatives may dance at one time and each participant dances by himself.

The "floor," on occasions during the short Arctic summer when such celebrations are held outdoors, may be pieces of walrus skin sewed together and laid on the sand. The musical instrument is something like the top of a drum, made from the lining of a whale's stomach.

Seven Vacancies in Sevier County

No Candidates Have Filed for Offices in Election

DE QUEEN, Ark.—Seven vacancies in elective offices in Sevier County have gone begging with no candidates having filed for the special election to be held on October 18. The office of county surveyor and of county coroner are without incumbents, and no candidates have qualified to make the race. Likewise there are six justices of the peace vacancies in the county, five of which are without candidates in the special election.

The office of justice of the peace in Bear Creek township which includes De Queen is being sought by William P. Ball, who holds the office now by appointment at the hands of Acting Governor Bob Bailey on May 1 of this year, following the death of George Irwin, and he is opposed by Joda Johnson.

The ballots will show A. P. Steel as Democratic candidate for chancellor and Minor Millwee for circuit judge. They were nominated by the state committee at an emergency meeting in Little Rock last week.

The Sevier county election board is composed of L. H. Norwood of LeFlore, T. O. Poole, of Horatio and Dr. C. C. Thompson of De Queen, and is scheduled to meet here Saturday to make arrangements for holding the election. The same judges and clerks who served in the last general election will be used, one board member said, provided they have paid poll taxes and are qualified to vote.

Only 1776 voters have paid their poll tax and qualified to vote in the special election, according to the list made public this week by Sheriff Jess Pickens. The normal vote in the county is about 2400.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark.—Possessing a weight advantage of 23 pounds to the man, the Blytheville High School Chickasaws defeated the Hot Springs Trojans, 26 to 0, here Friday night.

Weight and fresh reserves told the story in the second half. Much to the surprise of the big crowd, which expected an early massacre of the Trojans, Coach Perry's gridders held their heavier opponents to one touchdown.

Nashville Is Winner
NASHVILLE, Ark.—Nashville's Scrappers defeated the Ashdown Panthers, 27 to 7, here Friday night. There was no scoring in the first quarter, the teams playing in the center of the field.

Early in the second quarter, however, Bacon of Nashville blocked Ashdown's punt on the Ashdown 30-yard line, and Arnold then carried the ball over for Nashville's first touchdown. The extra point was lost. On the following kickoff, Ashdown scored on two passes. Welsh tossed one to Thrash for 30 yards and Welsh then threw to Thrash for Ashdown's only touchdown. Welsh kicked the extra point.

Tobacco Quite Costly, the Britishers Find

LONDON.—(AP)—Smoking is an expensive habit here. American cigarettes cost 37 cents a package. Most Americans, as a result, smoke English brands but don't save much since most of those cost 25 cents for 20. And they don't give matches away—you have to buy 'em or carry 'em. Many persons do the latter—say it's cheaper, even though the matches only cost a cent a pack.

English cigarettes come in heavy cardboard packages and usually have souvenir pictures inside. Popular brands come not only in packs of 20 but of 10 and even 5 cigarettes as well.

Weather Affects Crime
BERKELEY, Calif.—(AP)—Sex crimes are most common in summer, crimes against property in winter, says Dr. Hans von Hentig, German criminologist lecturing here. The greater strain of poverty in cold weather is the explanation for predatory crimes, he says, while sex crimes may be due to the effect of sunshine on certain glands.

According to "Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering," an automobile tire, costing $50 in 1910 produced 5,000 miles, while in 1936 a tire costing $15 is good for 20,000 miles.

These people have a stake in the far eastern struggle. Nearly every one of them has given something—money or clothing—to the cause. The Chinese newspapers in New York collect the money and a Chinese school on Mott street gathers the clothes. Many Chinatown workers have pledged a percentage of their salaries.

No Japanese live in Chinatown, though a few come around to eat Chinese food occasionally. So far there has been no trouble.

From July 14 to 17, 1911, 88.15 inches of rain fell at Bogufo, P. I. More than 45 inches fell on one day.

NEW YORK.—The "war" in China has done something to Mott street, the heart of New York's Chinatown. Drab, garbed denizens have buried factional strife and politics to make common cause of the campaign against Japan.

They've even lost some of their dread of photographers. Time was when an assignment to Chinatown was among the toughest for New York cameramen.

Rush to Bulletins
Enter a shop where elderly mysterious-looking Chinese are smoking placidly, and one of them says quietly, "Go away." They won't listen to an explanation. But if a shopkeeper should agree to have pictures taken in his store, his clerks scurry away. Some say the Chinese are afraid they lose part of their souls when their pictures are taken.

But today there is much less interest in the passing photographer. Everyone concentrates on the news from the homeland.

As bulletins are posted on the sides of buildings, there is a rush to read them. Young men in styles fresh from Allen street, old men in timeless sack suits, or befogged jackets they wore in China, gather to study. The photographer, who sees drama in the tense faces and bodies, clicks his shutter then, unheeded.

3-Star Film Will Show at the New

"Kid Galahad," Featuring Edward G. Robinson, at New, Sunday, Monday

Bette Davis was winner of the 1935 Academy gold statue for the best female film performance of the year. Edward G. Robinson's every picture has been a great success since "Little Caesar," back in 1930.

Humphrey Bogart was the main figure in the recent "Black Legion" thriller, and the menacing bandit in "Petrified Forest."

Each an individual Warner Bros. star—but now all working together in "Kid Galahad," an exciting story of the prize ring and those who surround it! The picture has been booked into the New theater and is scheduled to have its first local showing on Sunday.

"Kid Galahad," written by Francis Wallace, was a great literary success when it first appeared as a serial in a national weekly magazine. Then it became a best-seller as a novel.

The story deals with two rival underworld fight-managers, Robinson and Bogart, and their attempts to double-cross each other. Eddie's fighter is "Kid Galahad" (called that because of his idealistic attitude toward women), played by a 23-year-old newcomer to the screen named Wayne Morris. It is predicted by those who saw the picture in preview that this movie will shoot him right into stardom.

Bogart's 'boy' is another very unusual character—William Haade, who was taken right off the skeleton of a steel office-building in New York City to play the lead in the stage production "Iron Men." He's a genuine steel worker. Directly from the Broadway play he was brought to Hollywood to do "Chuck McGraw," the heavyweight champion in "Kid Galahad."

The fight between these two boys is said to be the bitterest ever shown on stage or screen—with no punches pulled. Morris weighs 195, Haade 210. The battle goes eleven rounds.

Miss Davis plays the part of "Fluff," girl friend of Robinson. A new young leading lady on the Warner lot—Jane Bryan, who scored so heavily in Bette's last picture, "Marked Women," plays the romantic lead opposite Morris.

Then there are some real fighters, professionals, too, such as Bob Nestell, the heavyweight contender, Hank Hankinson and Jack Kranz—and immense scenes of Madison Square Garden battles.

The picture was directed by Michael Curtiz (who made "The Charge of the Light Brigade" and "Captain Blood") from a screen play by Soton I. Miller, adapted from the Wallace novel.

New Intervention

Sign observers here, Matsui's statements probably were issued upon orders of Tokyo as an answer to United States and League of Nations declarations disapproving Japanese military actions in China.

Plans For Parley

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—An international conference to discourage Japanese aggression in China was a step nearer reality Friday night. Hugh Wilson, for the United States, and V. A. L. Mallet, for Great Britain, began a discussion of preliminary arrangements, with the result that a date and place for the meeting will be announced within a few days.

Officials did not disclose whether Mallet, the charge d'affaires of the British embassy, and Wilson went into the question of how far the United States is willing to go in taking concerted action.

That question, a principal one ever since Mr. Roosevelt's Chicago speech, became an absorbing subject of speculation, both here and elsewhere. It was regarded as a question on which there must be a preliminary understanding if the conference is to prove a success.

That is, the meeting must have a program, leading to a specific decision whether the nations involved shall undertake a definite course of action to call Japan to account or adopt a statement of policy with recommendations to the League of Nations. The powers involved may be asked to declare a general economic boycott against Japan, thus attempting to cut the island off from needed supplies. There were no indications whether the United States would or would not support such action.

Presumably, the powers represented will be those which have signed or adhered to the nine-power treaty which specifies the rights of the subscribing nations in the Far East and guarantees China's territorial integrity. The countries involved are: United States, Britain, China, Japan, France, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands, Portugal, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Mexico and Bolivia.

A Whale of a Whale

Who hasn't heard of the "Big One That Got Away," here is a picture of a really big one that didn't get away. Probably some ambitious fisherman will lay claim to "Colossus," as the big one that got away from him, but "Colossus" was only caught once, and then the catch was only made possible with the most modern of whaling equipment. Boasting her weight in tons, 68 of them and her length in feet, puts "Colossus" in the really big class, and she is coming to Hope Saturday, October 16th for one day only. Mounted on her own specially built railroad car, said to be the largest ever built. The huge whale pictured above is one of the features of the Mammoth Marine Hippodrome which is a complete Marine Museum of all the strange denizens of the seven seas, chief among which is "Sea Tiny the Mermaid," said to be nature's strangest living enigma. The huge exhibit car, stretching out more than 100 feet will arrive Saturday morning and will be spotted at the Missouri Pacific depot for a one day visit. The exhibit will be open to the public from noon until 10 p. m.

"Lost Horizon" at Saenger

In a setting of idyllic splendor, representing the immensity of Shang-Li in "Lost Horizon," and featuring Jane Wyatt and Ronald Colman find the perfect romance. Their story is part of the strange odyssey described by James Hilton in his prize-winning novel.

"Greatest in screen history" is the verdict of the world's critics and the 3,000,000 persons enthralled by the overwhelming drama... the heart-warming romance of Frank Capra's mighty screen masterpiece, "Lost Horizon," opening its local popular-priced engagement at the Saenger theater Sunday.

you people much sooner than you now have any prospects of getting. Our highways are units of transcontinental systems and the sections lying within Arkansas have just as much of a dollars and cents value to other parts of our nation as to Arkansas.

"We say our nation as to Arkansas. We say our highways cost more than one hundred million dollars but Uncle Sam said he valued them at only thirty million and shut off. This means no funds for new construction as the refunding act of 1934 requires that every dollar over maintenance costs be pledged to debt service."

"I tried to avoid this with my refunding program which would save the taxpayers millions of dollars in interest, but a small group... in Little Rock are doing everything possible to block the program."

The governor said he intended to push the purchase of lands within the lower spillway, asserting that "those people who sit below Arkansas City behind that fuse plug love never know what time it is going out and destroy their lands and lives."

"The Overton bill carried an appropriation of fifteen millions to pay for this land," he continued, "but something happened. Someone decided these property owners should make their lands a gift to the government. This was not right, the land-owners should be compensated."

He advocated the immediate construction of guide levees and reservoirs along the Mississippi river to decrease flood danger.

A large part of the address dealt with his administration as governor, which he described as efficient and economical.

Miller Flays Bailey

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—Congressman John E. Miller charged Friday night that Governor Carl E. Bailey "negatively" took steps to render the speed law at nearby Greenville ineffective last September after an attempt was made to arrest him there.

Warner Baxter Is Starred at Rialto

Has Leading Role in the Film "Robinhood of El Dorado"

Lifted bodily from the most romantic era of America's frontier history, "Robin Hood of El Dorado," starring Warner Baxter comes Wednesday to the Rialto to take its place among the truly magnificent achievements of the talking screen.

It is an outdoor epic reminiscent of "The Covered Wagon," "The Big Trail" and other spectacular photoplays which stand as milestones of motion picture progress.

Painted with spectacular strokes on a tremendous canvas, it still finds opportunity to deal with the heartaches, the romances, the joys and the sorrows of an absorbing character—the historic Joaquin Murietta who left his name written large in the early history of the Far West.

Warner Baxter turns in the greatest characterization of his career as the dashing good-bad man who rode like an avenging angel through the roaring gold towns of California in the days of '49, leading a wild outlaw army of 400 men. It is a role that blends romance with fierceness, tenderness with hate, and to it Baxter adds a delightful charm that is certain to captivate feminine hearts.

nor Bob Bailey and his friends.

"Candidate Bailey will make a statement before the close of the campaign that Governor Bailey will resign if elected senator," he said, "notwithstanding Governor Bailey's promise before the state legislature last February that he would not resign; notwithstanding his promise to state appointees that he would not desert them."

"Dear in mind, however, the statement will be delayed until Governor Bailey's campaign has been financed fully by his state appointees. Despite the fact he will make such a statement, he will not resign. He will make such a statement solely in an effort to gain the support of Bob Bailey and his friends."

The word "El Dorado," meaning "the gilded one," was first applied to a South American tribal king or priest, said to cover himself with gold dust at an annual religious festival.

The passenger pigeon, so numerous that its flocks once darkened American skies for hours at a time, became extinct within a few years when market hunters knocked down the adult birds systematically from their roosts at night.

Woman vs. Woman New Rialto Film

Newspaper Murder Mystery Drama to Show Three Days

Two women, facing each other in an underlying play of life and death, is one of the dramatic highlights in the newspaper murder-mystery drama, "Back in Circulation" starring Pat O'Brien and Joan Blondell.

In her role of a reporter, Miss Blondell has been instrumental in the conviction of Margaret Lindsay on a charge of murder. Convicted that the condemned woman is innocent, she contrives to break down the silence Miss Lindsay has maintained throughout the trial.

The climatic scene between the two actresses is replete with emotional intensity and one that will be long remembered, according to those who saw the previews. The picture shows Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Rialto.
